

Papua New Guinea Photovoltaic Cable Tray Manufacturer Supply

Article Overview

While there is no specific manufacturer of photovoltaic cable trays listed in PNG, major hardware and electrical suppliers like Hardware Haus and Brian Bell Group can provide solar installation materials and cable management solutions.

Potential Suppliers

Hardware Haus is Papua New Guinea's largest hardware retailer, with a nationwide network of warehouse stores. They carry a wide range of electrical and construction products and maintain an extensive supplier network both locally and overseas, which may include cable trays suitable for photovoltaic systems. They are a key point of contact for sourcing solar installation components in PNG (Hardware Haus) . Brian Bell Group operates a Trade Electrical division that holds a leading market position in electrical products. Their technical centers and nationwide distribution network support commercial and industrial projects, including energy and electrical infrastructure. They may provide cable trays, conduits, and other electrical accessories for solar PV installations (Brian Bell Group) .

Recommendations for Sourcing

- Contact Local Distributors: Reach out to Hardware Haus and Brian Bell Group to inquire about photovoltaic-specific cable trays or compatible electrical trays for solar projects.
- International Suppliers: If local manufacturers are unavailable, consider importing cable trays from regional suppliers in Australia or Southeast Asia, which often supply PV-rated trays suitable for tropical climates.
