

What is a GPON user device

Overview

A GPON ONU, commonly called an ONT (Optical Network Terminal), is the device installed at the user's premises. It serves as the final access point of the fiber network, converting optical signals into electrical data that routers, computers, and other devices can use. There are no specific requirements for this document. This document is not restricted to specific software and hardware versions. The information in this document was created from the devices in a. GPON uses passive optical network (PON) is a fiber-optic access architecture in which a single optical fiber from a central location is shared by multiple end users through one or more passive optical splitters in series (cascaded). A PON network consists exclusively of passive optical components. One of many PON standards is GPON. GPON uses Asynchronous Transfer Mode (ATM) for voice, Ethernet for data, and.
